

PARCS UPDATE #104 September 15, 2019

"Have you marked your calendar?"

1. WHAT'S HAPPENING ON OCTOBER 18th & 19th?

Our annual PARCS Convention begins at 9:15 am when you register and pick up your coffee, tea or juice along with scones, butter and jam, plus fruit salad.

There are two concurrent 2-hour workshops that morning:

- VILLAGES – will learn about COUNCIL PROCEDURES plus their ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES. Speaker Amanda Wilkins reminds us that "Leadership and learning are indispensable to each other." (John F. Kennedy)
- RMs & OHs – will hear from FOUR RMS with OHs. This panel of 4 pairs (RM + OH speakers) will share their insights about the CHALLENGES & SUCCESSES they have experienced in learning to work together.

After a hearty lunch of build-your-own sandwiches, soup, salad, desert squares, delegates will hear from two important plenary speakers. Here's what these speakers had to say about their own sessions:

- Murray Walker, a consultant with the Dispute Resolution Office, said: "The concept of collaboration is that maintaining a good working relationship is important when resolving a problem. The question may be: How bad is the relationship now, and is there a desire and commitment to repair it?"
- Diane Aldridge, Director of Compliance for the Privacy Commissioner, said: "This presentation will outline for Councillors how to meet transparency requirements while respecting privacy of residents and others, while performing official duties for resort communities."

Friday's array of high-powered speakers, will wind down about 4:00 pm, allowing delegates time for a rest before the cash bar opens at 6:30 pm, followed by the banquet with two entrees (short ribs in sauce plus herbed breaded chicken breasts), mashed potatoes, several hot veggies, four salads, and yummy deserts.<sup>1</sup>

Saturday begins with a hearty breakfast of eggs, bacon, and hash-browns and two new additions to our PARCS Business: an analysis of the enduring issues faced by the majority of our cottage communities and proposals for PARCS in 2020.

We are honored to welcome a very special afternoon plenary speaker, Joe Carson, Saskatchewan's Director of Regulatory Modernization who will help us understand about policies, when they can be helpful and when they can be a hindrance.

<sup>1</sup> We have a surprise skit at the banquet. You will get to meet Mayor I B Wishywashy, 6 Councillors: Summer Love, Herm Roid, along with Mary Emall, Macon Sense, Titus Canby and AB Stain

2. WHAT'S HAPPENING ON OCTOBER 21st<sup>2</sup>?

PARCS is sure you are aware that Monday, Oct. 21st, is the date for voting in the 2019 Federal Election.

While PARCS has not taken any official positions on issues being discussed in this election, we did take time to check what two organizations had to say about the election:

- FOCA, the Federation of Ontario Cottage Owner Associations, and
- FCM, the Federation of Canadian Municipalities.

FOCA posed a questions about cottage owners voting at their cottages. The reply from Elections Canada stated that “in a federal election, even if you own property in more than one place, you may vote only once, in the riding of your “ordinary residence.””

FOCA then asked Elections Canada to confirm how a voter can designate their cottage riding as the place where they intend to vote in the federal election. For example, perhaps you have retired to your cottage, and rarely return home to your condo in the city, and would prefer to vote for federal candidates in you cottage riding.

Here’s an excerpt from their reply:

Electors can change their place of ordinary residence at the Voter Registration page of [Elections Canada’s] website, or by contacting the local returning office during an election, with appropriate identification and proof of address. This can also be done at the polls, but it can take additional time.<sup>3</sup>

If you intend to designate your cottage riding as your ordinary residence for the purpose of voting in the federal election, FOCA recommends that you start the process early, to ensure everything goes smoothly when you go to vote. FCM has begun to release a number of recommendations on behalf of municipalities<sup>4</sup>; here are their first two (to learn more, CTRL click on <https://fcm.ca/en> ):

- To permanently double the direct, reliable federal Gas Tax Fund transfer. Simply put: this is the most straightforward step the next government can take to empower municipalities to boost Canadians’ quality of life—everywhere.
- To commit to build a “rural lens” into the heart of the federal government—bringing the vital perspectives of our rural communities to the table, while empowering rural leaders with modern, streamlined funding tools to help drive Canada’s economy.

FCM continues to release recommendations as the election period continues.

NOTE – The next 2 pages are the program and the registration for the upcoming PARCS CONVENTION.

<sup>3</sup> You can find out the name of the federal riding at your cottage site by going on to the elections.ca site and typing in the postal code for your cottage
