

PARCS UPDATE #114 – March, 9, 2020 – This newsletter begins with a brief review of where our province has gone during the past 4 years in the battle against zebra mussels. Then, we provide a summary of the plan released last week by the Minister of Environment. Finally, we conclude with a reference to a the debate that is going on in Manitoba about whether the province need more federal money to keep mussels from crossing their USA border or to keep those mussels already in some of their lakes from contaminating other lakes or moving west into Saskatchewan.
